Mission Matters

A well-known management philosopher and business consultant from a previous generation, Peter Drucker once said, “Today, knowledge has power. It controls access to opportunity and advancement.”

That maxim rings true, especially in our current age and applies to leadership in any number of arenas. A leader should continually increase his knowledge, because that power dynamic is present for almost any endeavor. If we are life-long learners, then we will increase the possibility of seeing new opportunities open before us.

It’s interesting that the wisest man that ever lived was led to include that truth in his writings three thousand years ago! A wise man is strong, and a man of knowledge increases power (Proverbs 24:5) When scripture tells us that “knowledge increases power,” it means the power of conviction as well as facts and position.

For the godly leader his source of conviction and truth is always foundational and found in the word of God, the scriptures. This Bible-based knowledge will allow a leader to grow firm in his convictions and to see things that others do not see. He is a leader that stands head and shoulders above the crowd. He or she is a leader that God can use marvelously in our dark and needy age.
